a. Visiting Official SNCTC on Third-Party Websites and Applications

The SNCTC currently maintains an official SNCTC account on third-party websites and applications. The third-party service provider’s terms of service and privacy policies govern your activity on the third-party website or application. The SNCTC does not control what these third-parties service providers do with the information they collect. You may wish to review the third-party service provider’s terms of service and privacy policies before using it to understand how and when the third-party service provider collects, uses, and/or shares information you make available by using its service. You can find the privacy policies for third-party websites and applications commonly used by the SNCTC below under the SNCTC’s Use of Third-Party Websites and Applications.

The creation and use of official SNCTC accounts on third-party websites and applications may cause PII to become available or accessible to the SNCTC. Such information may become available to the SNCTC when a user provides, submits, communicates, links, posts, or associates information with official SNCTC accounts (e.g., through “liking,” “friend-ing,” responding to tweets, or commenting on content provided by the SNCTC). The SNCTC does not control, moderate, or endorse the comments or opinions provided by you on official SNCTC accounts.

The SNCTC may collect and maintain PII you make available on third-party websites and applications with official SNCTC accounts. Specifically:

- The SNCTC, or a contractor operating on behalf of the SNCTC, may automatically collect certain browser information, including the full internet address of the third-party service provider, if you travel directly to a SNCTC website from the third-party application or website, as outlined in the section above regarding Information Collected and Stored Automatically;
- SNCTC may request that individuals voluntarily provide information to the SNCTC through third-party websites and applications. In such cases, a user may request their PII to be removed via the process identified below under Data Retention;
- In certain circumstances, SNCTC may “share,” “retweet,” “friend,” “follow,” or respond publicly to content made available on official SNCTC social media accounts. To the extent that the SNCTC’s “share,” “retweet,” “friend-ing,” “follow,” or public response constitutes the creation of a record under the Nevada Revised Statutes, the SNCTC may be required to maintain and archive such interaction for a period of time as required by Federal or State laws;

- SNCTC may collect and maintain information made available to the SNCTC on official SNCTC accounts for a specific law enforcement or national security purpose (for example, activity that indicates a violation or potential violation of law, a threat of physical harm, or harm to national security); and
- SNCTC may collect and maintain information made available to the SNCTC on official SNCTC accounts when required by law.

The SNCTC will not otherwise collect and maintain PII you make available on third-party websites and applications with official SNCTC accounts.
